THE GREAT EARTHQUAKE!

Scenes in the City of San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—The most destructive earthquake that has ever visited this town occurred this morning. Not even the great shock of October, 1865, that caused so much damage and dismay, was equal to this. Former earthquakes had to do with a rough, unfinished frontier town—the present one finds a large city, full of people and covered with elegant buildings.—The force of the shock has increased with the increasing population and magnificence of the city, till it has culminated in the terrible convulsion of to-day. It may seem an exaggeration to call that a convulsion which occupied only a few seconds of time, but to those who felt the shock and saw its effects no term could seem too strong.—There have been in all, during the day, some five or six shocks, each less violent than its predecessor, till the subterranean forces seem to have spent themselves, and to have left the startled city to repose. The first and most violent shock occurred about eight o'clock this morning, and at that point every clock in San Francisco stopped, as though the last trump had sounded, and time was no more. The business of the day had hardly begun. Workmen were going about their work, the stores were opening, many people were at breakfast, and some were still asleep, when suddenly, without warning, and accompanied by no noise from the ground, every building began to shake and quiver, as if it were set on wheels and dragged rapidly over a pavement of gigantic stones. The foundations of the firm and solid earth had given way, and men knew not where to look for aid.

In the hotels and large boarding houses the scene was appalling. The duration of the shock was but thirty or forty seconds, yet it seemed minutes. Women and children fainted, or rushed, screaming and half dressed, into the streets; men rushed from the sidewalks to the middle of the streets, lest the buildings should topple over on them. In the upper stories of high buildings the vibration was said by observers to be three or four feet from side to side. The water tanks on the tops of the houses surged over with the motion, and fell in torrents below. Glass was shattered and fell from the windows; ceilings cracked; timbers creaked, and the houses rocked to and fro till it seemed impossible that jointed beams or cemented bricks could stand the strain.

Yet great as was the violence of the shock, comparatively little was done to buildings standing on solid ground. It was in the lower part of the city, on Sansane and First streets, and below them, where all the ground is made land, that the major part of the destruction occurred. This is the business part of the town, and here are the heavy warehouses and wholesale stores, all of which are built on piles. This made land is of considerable extent, and is filled in where once was water fifty or sixty feet deep. In this section the streets were full of trucks, the horses of which became at once unmanageable and rushed wildly through the streets, increasing the danger for men who ran from the buildings, and who were forced to leave the sidewalks to escape the falling bricks. The scene here was fearful. An eye-witness ran from a store into the street just in time to see a heavy cornice fall from a building opposite and kill two men. The earth rose and fell like the waves of the sea, and long rifts were formed in the solid pavement, as the ice cracks on a frozen lake. Some stores settled bodily into the ground to a distance of several feet. Others sank at one corner, and remain twisted out of all shape, and dangerous to occupy. Chimneys toppled over and fell, crashing through roofs beneath. On Pine street, a portion of the street sunk six or eight inches below the rest. In a vacant corner lot on First street a series of cracks were formed parallel with each other, extending all across the lot from north to south, exactly as if the ground had given way on the ridges of waves running from west to east; and through one of these cracks was forced up water and sand from what was once the harbor beach.

The number of buildings that have fallen down is very small, but the number of those which have fallen in part, or are shattered into worthlessness, is very great. The building used as the custom-house and post-office is badly shaken and has been deserted by its occupants, and in consequence no mail has gone to-day. The city hall is almost a wreck, the outer walls bulging out, and the arches within disintegrated and ready to drop. It is unsafe to occupy, and the prisoners in the caloboose beneath it have been removed. In many places the air was reeking with the smell of gas from burned pipes. Here and there water pipes had burst and flooded the streets, so that the water had to be turned off from some sections of the city. This made it necessary to examine the reserve cisterns, in which a supply of water is kept stored in case of fire, and it was found that some of these had been broken by the convulsion and were empty.

Some three quarters of an hour after the first shock came another, sharp but short, which finished some of the work begun by the first. Buildings which had not fallen at the first shock now toppled over. There was another scene of terror for an instant, and again all was still. About 10 o'clock, a general belief pervaded the city that the worst was over, and the sidewalks were thronged with people, including many ladies, inspecting the ruins. Another shock came. In an instant the streets, before empty, were filled with crowds rushing from the side-walks and buildings, till we, looking along any one of the broad streets or plazas, could see thousands who had rushed there to escape the danger of falling buildings.

The earthquake was felt in the bay, not as a tidal wave, but as a jarring motion. The war steamer Ossipee shook from stem to stern as she lay at anchor a quarter of a mile from land. The Oakland Ferry boat felt the shock, and her engineer stopped the engine, thinking she had struck something.

From the country around came various reports, many of them doubtless untrue.—At Oakland the shock was severe but no special harm was done. At San Leandro the Court House fell in ruins, overwhelming the cells beneath it, in which several prisoners were confined.

Fortunate was it for the city that the shock occurred when it did. Had it been an hour later, when the streets would have been crowded, and the children in the school houses, the loss of life would have been fearful. As it is, twelve deaths are known to have happened, and more may come to light when the debris is cleared away. The destruction of property has been great. Of the public buildings, the Post Office, Custom House, Mint and City Hall are at best, temporarily useless. Many of the school-houses are seriously damaged. The number of stores and dwelling-houses that have been injured is hard to tell. But many that appear sound have been so weakened that they will fall more easily at a future shock; and in the wholesale stores, the mere displacement and confusion of goods, where the contents of many shelves have been thrown into a promiscuous pile, will cause an expense of thousands of dollars.

After all we have reasons to congratulate ourselves on the manner in which the city has weathered the storm. The high buildings of four or five stories, which have been put up within the last two or three years, and have been looked upon as the first to fall in case of earthquake, are just the ones that have stood the shock best. And the reason is that they were better built. It is safe to predict that when time shall have given increased wealth and stability to our merchants, the business part of the town will contain only solid and substantial structures, to which no subsequent earthquake, unless far more severe than the present one, can do equal mischief.

Already with their wonted energy, our citizens have begun repairs. In a few weeks only an occasional crack in a wall will remain to remind a visitor of the great earthquake of 1868.

A Most Wonderful and Successful Invention!

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC
CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.
Awarded the highest Testimonial wherever exhibited in the United States.

THIS BOILER OPERATES UPON PURELY philosophical principles.

It is self-acting and dispenses entirely with labor and the wear of clothes.

The hot suds and steam, by the action of fire, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the Clothes and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without any rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested and pronounced unequalled as a Clothes Washer by those who have used it.

All fabrics, from the finest lawn to the bed blanket, can be washed perfectly and with ease without the aid of the rubbing-board. For Flannels it is invaluable as the rubbing, rolling, and pressing process, must necessarily full them, more or less.

It is truly a labor and clothes saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hardship, and washing day no longer a terror and a dread to housewives.

The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.

If the directions are strictly followed, success is certain.

The saving in the wear of clothes will very soon pay for the outlay.

It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of boiled suds pass through the clothes in thirty minutes; this being the longest time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes.

Having purchased the exclusive interest and control of the Automatic Clothes Washer and Boiler, for North Carolina, we have established a depot in Raleigh, where we are prepared to fill orders or to sell COUNTY RIGHTS. Letters addressed to us at Raleigh, N. C., or Portsmouth, Va., will receive prompt attention.

THE DUTY BEFORE US.

It is a matter, not only for profound congratulation, but of great admiration, that the adverse result of the recent election should be universally and with such excellent temper acquiesced in throughout the South. In this, as in all other exhibitions, since the close of the war, in 1865, the true people of the South have illustrated their honest and graceful submission to the inevitable, their desire for quiet and their purpose to obey the laws of the land. They accepted, in perfect faith, the legitimate issues decided by the arbitrament of arms; and even when the most tyrannical, degrading and oppressive impositions were put upon them, in violation of the Constitution and the spirit of their surrender, they still quietly submitted, having no thought of seeking remedy through other than lawful agencies. Their appeal, in their very distress and humiliation, was to the ballot box and the sober, reflecting sense of justice and magnanimity of the Northern masses.—Now that that appeal has failed them, and the illegal, arbitrary and unwise policy of Congressional reconstruction is fastened upon them, by the verdict of the Northern people (for, whatever the intention, that is the logical sequence,) they bow, though with crushed spirits, to the stroke, and evince a laudable and manly purpose to accept the result and endeavor to educe the greatest amount of good that is possible out of the dire evil.

We undertake to promise, on the part of the true people of North Carolina and of the South, that they will yield a quiet and perfect obedience to all the requirements of the situation. They have not joined in the defamation of Gen. Grant that has been so bitterly indulged in by portions of the Northern Democratic press and speakers. Their feelings towards him, although he stood in the attitude, personally, of a conqueror, have not been uncharitable, much less vindictive. They cherish a chivalric appreciation of his conduct towards their vanquished legions at Appomattox, and have remembered, gratefully, that he subsequently, in an official and formal manner, testified to the sincerity of their submission. Their hostility has not been to him, but to the party, whose nomination he accepted, and to the platform upon which he was supposed to stand. There is an universal and hopeful impression among them, that he will not tarnish his victor wreath as a soldier, at this late day, when passion should have subsided, and the hot blood of war cooled by a newborn revengeful, implacable or even unkind spirit. We say, therefore, that our people are disposed to give Gen. Grant's administration a fair trial and an honest support, until it shall prove (as we trust it may never prove) to be in accord with the views of the extremists of the party to which he may be said to belong. Such is the almost universal indication. We note, in all the South, but one or two exceptions, and, for ourselves, we do not hesitate to condemn, in the most unequivocal manner, the tone and temper of the Memphis Avalanche, a recent indiscreet and foolish article in which paper is justly exciting hostile criticism at the North.

No man ever had such an opportunity, as has Gen. Grant, to soften the asperities of public sentiment, to heal the breaches of war, to stay the tide of lawless aggression, to nationalize the people and to immortalize himself. His great personal popularity, and the manner of his election,—voted for, as he evidently was, by tens of thousands who have no sympathy with the measures of the Radical party,—will enable him successfully to accomplish these results, to do justice and to deal kindly, if he chooses so to sig nalize his administration. That such may be his policy will be the aspiration of every patriot, North and South. And until it shall appear otherwise, the people of the South will offer no factious opposition to the new administration.

Independently of the present inutility, indeed, of such opposition, if the disposition for it existed, we have had enough of political excitement. In North Carolina, especially, owing to the unhappy influence of a horde of imported and needy adventurers, and to the vindictive and selfish designs of depraved and bad men in our own midst, we have been kept, for more than eighteen months, in a perpetual state of unrest and agitation. And while we still not advise any relaxation of our efforts to drive these men from power, whenever the lawful occasion presents itself, any abatement of our contempt for them or of our condemnation of their unhallowed designs against the welfare, honor and peace of the community, we do counsel a truce to National politics, a cessation of angry criminations or recriminations, a freedom from party excitements and an earnest attention to our material necessities and interests.

"Let us watch the heavens and work the earth; and, ere long, we shall see the gray dawn creeping up the Eastern sky!"

THE IMMIGRATION MEETING.

The meeting suggested by Hon. W. T. Dortch, to be held at Goldsboro, takes place to day. This is a practical movement, and one in which our farmers are much interested. We hope it will be well attended.

There are a variety of opinions among our people in regard to immigration. It is perfectly plain, and ought to be so, to the most common intellect, that the only chance for the recuperation and prosperity of our people, both white and black, is the extensive and improved cultivation of the lands of this State. Moreover, it is positively certain, that, with the small amount of efficient labor in the State, the indebtedness of the people and of the State can never be paid. The proposition to increase the State debt, without, at the same time, adopting some efficient plan by which our labor can be vastly increased, is simply foolish and dishonest. So far from being able to meet additional responsibilities, the present labor of the State cannot meet the old liabilities of the State. The nett income of the people of North Carolina, in the aggregate, for the past two years, has not been, perhaps, a dollar. Some few persons have made money, have made more than their expenses, but the great bulk of the people are worse off, to-day, than they were two years ago. What has been paid by our people, in the shape of taxes, for the past two years, in North Carolina, is now, perhaps, an outstanding debt against three fourths of our tax-paying people, in some form or other. And all this is easily explained.

It has cost the people of North Carolina to live, for the past two years,—to make what they have made,—at least fifty per cent. more than at any former period. The unfortunate manner in which the government introduced the negro race to freedom among us, at a single stroke, reduced the actual labor of the State 33⅓ per cent, at least. This increased the number of consumers, who produced nothing, vastly, by taking away from the culture of cotton and other products, which could be made by slight labor, many of the males, and almost all the labor of the colored women and boys and girls from the fields. This, added to the previous indebtedness of the people, is the great source of our present poverty.

Now this deficiency of labor must be met, and our labor must be increased, before the people of the State, in the aggregate, can improve their condition or their credit.—Some of the deficiency may be made up by an increase of agricultural labor among our native white males, as is already the case, but still there will be a large deficit of labor to be made up, as compared with our condition before the war.

Hence, the movement to introduce foreign immigration among us, in order to increase our labor force, is an absolute necessity,—made so, if you please, by the sudden abolition of slavery and the unfortunate teachings to our colored people, which followed. There is no other way to supply this deficit of labor, unless the colored population would render as large a proportion of it as they did before the war. Experience has shown that it is useless to expect this. From this it will be seen, that the effort to secure foreign labor is not made, because of hostility to the blacks, but because of the necessities of our condition, to prevent either repudiation, on the one hand, or universal bankruptcy, on the other,—results which must certainly follow, if we are shut up to the necessity of using only the amount of labor at our command, at present.

We therefore hope that the Convention at Goldsboro will be well attended and that it may result in securing the objects of its assembling.

THE NEW YORK Times suggests that the salary of the President should be increased from $25,000 to $ 50,000 per year. It is quite certain that $25,000, now, is much less in value than when the salary was fixed. It ought to be increased to a sum adequate to the high position and the necessary expenses to be incurred, but the salary of the President should not make the office desirable on that account. It is even necessary to keep the President within proper bounds.

FILIBUSTERING FOR CUBA.—An article in the New York Sunday News states that a grand scheme is on foot in that city among a band of Americans for the capture and conquest of the Queen of the Antilles. According to this report 2,500 men of pluck and spirit are all that are required to accomplish this undertaking. These acquisitive gentlemen, however, should remember that there are several little obstacles in the way of their success. Primarily our Government is in most harmonious relations with the new Spanish Government and people, and the President would feel it incumbent upon him to suppress all such unlawful raids upon a friendly Power. In addition to that the job would be found a difficult one as against the Spanish forces themselves, especially as the new Provisional Government at Madrid is sending out new armaments to keep the ever-faithful isle in order.—Wash. Express.

GEN. ROBERT E. LEE.—We were informed yesterday that the "Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company" of New York have transmitted a communication to Gen. Lee, tendering to him the position of "Supervisor of Agencies" of that institution in the Southern States. The salary proposed to be paid is $10,000 per annum.

In this connection we may state that there has recently been considerable "talk on 'Change" about the expediency of electing Gen. Lee to the Presidency of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company. The advocates of the idea argue that his election to that position would secure the immediate realization of the funds required to complete the road to the Ohio river.—Rich. Whig.

Gerrit Smith is out in a long letter, dated the 7th instant, addressed to General Grant. In regard to the South, he lays: "I cannot forbear saying that no small ground of my rejoicing in your election is your charitable judgment and generous treatment of the South. Warmly did I approve the easy terms on which you allowed General Lee to surrender. Your subsequent report of the temper of the South, after a too hasty tour through it, showed that you were capable of forming a charitable judgment of even a recent foe."

MONEY PRESSURE.—During the recent money panic in New York, money was loaned at ½ per cent. per day, with the additional 7 per cent. a year, the legal rate of interest. Our people, who feel severely the high rate of interest which they have to pay on loans here, generally about 30 per cent. per annum, and which is attributed to the scarcity of money, cannot realize the paying of such high interest in New York, where money is so plentiful. The same cause here produces the same effect there.—It is in the power of those who trade in money, and who hold large amounts, to render money as scarce in New York, and even scarcer, than it is here, by the process of locking up, which was adopted in order to affect the price of money and stocks.—In this case, the panic is said to have been very great, and many were driven to the wall.

The coure of Mr. McCulloch, the Secretary of the Treasury, who, it seems, has, on several occasions, stepped forward to relieve the pressure, is severely censured by various presses. The following remarks of the Cincinnati Gazette seem to us pertinent:

"We have to inquire, what has the government to do with the money pressure?—And if, with $350,000,000 of greenbacks, and $300,000,000 of bank notes, and more than a $100,000,000 of other notes that serve the uses of currency, we have a money pressure requiring another issue, where will the system stop? This monetary pressure was brought about by the speculations that were excited by the accumulation of money in the metropolis from a redundant circulation. The primary cause was too much currency. It is a speculative crisis with which Mr. McCulloch has no business, and which he cannot touch without exciting grave suspicions. There is issue of notes will only aggravate the conditions that in a regular circuit will bring another speculative crisis, with another demand for more currency issue. A system by which the government assumes the control of values by contracting and loosening money has the most gigantic facilities for corruption, and it cannot exist without running into that."

Upon this the New York World very judiciously remarks:

"All this is true. The Treasury Department at Washington should have nothing to do with Wall street. It is none of the business of the government to take care of the stock market. Values, especially stock values, are notoriously inflated, and we can never get back to specie payments unless we face manfully a dozen or more of just such panics as is now raging in Wall street. Sooner or later we must get to the legal-tender of the rest of the world—gold and silver; but the road to hard-money payments will be a hard one to travel, and will entail immense losses on the whole commercial class. Let our moneyed men take in sail. There is no safety this side of specie payments, and the losses during the period of contraction—say the next four years—will be as large as were the gains during the period of inflation. There is nothing to do but grin and bear it."

"GEN. GRANT AS PRESIDENT."

The Army and Navy Journal, which has through the campaign spoken in relation to Grant in an authoritative tone, discusses this probable course now that he is elected to the Presidency. It refers to his candid and dispassionate view regarding the South set forth in his official report on the situation soon after peace was declared, and to the terms of surrender which he dictated to Lee's army. It then adds:

"Gen. Grant, we repeat, is by nature a well-balanced, calm, moderate, conservative man. Such will be appear as President, and those who contemplate his being either a tool or a tyrant reckon without their host. Next we may count on Gen. Grant's administration being of an exceedingly practical character. This is the essential character of his own mind. * * Gen. Grant, without making a great noise about it, will aim to make his administration generally useful by economy, by honesty, by sound judgment and common sense.

His Cabinet will be selected with a view to render him assistance in this practical way. The measures he will recommend to Congress will be entirely of this sort. The finances and the civil service will be among the foremost of general political subjects to receive attention, and we may safely predict that the great word of the hour, the great feature to strike all observers, as soon as General Grant has been a month in power, will be the confidence inspired in people of all parties and all political creeds.

Grant, as a soldier, understands well the bounds of co-ordinate and subordinate authority. Congress will not be suffered to encroach upon his prerogatives as the Executive, nor he attempt to encroach upon Congress as the legislative department of the Government. A soldier is used both to command and obey—an admirable training, say what civilians will, for any administrative office, from pound-keeper up to President.

We shall make bold to predict that he will realize more than any man who has sat in the Chief Magistrate's chair since Andrew Jackson, the Executive idea which should be the central idea connected with the Presidency."

GEN. GRANT'S VIEWS OF THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.—A statement made last evening by a gentleman in whom may be placed implicit reliance, and who enjoys excellent opportunities to enable him to speak intelligently on the subject, may give some indication of Gen. Grant's position in relation to the Republican party. He states that after the General was nominated he sat quiet for a long time carefully reading and pondering upon the platform adopted by the Convention; that he finally expressed to his confidential friends that he did not like it, and was in great doubt whether he would accept the nomination on that platform. This coming to the ears of certain leaders of the party they hastened to call upon the General, who stated to them his objections to the platform. This intelligence was received with no little consternation by his visitors, who feared that Grant entertained the intention of declining the nomination. They at once opened upon him with every conceivable argument they could bring to bear to induce him to accept, one of which arguments was that the platform need not be regarded by him in so serious a light—it was simply an enunciation of the general principles of the party, necessary only to make up the issues of the campaign. They urged him to accept at all events, and to say nothing more about the platform. Many other arguments of a similar character were used, it is said, which gave Grant to understand that they wanted him to accept the nomination, if even it had to be on a platform of his own adoption.—Wash. Cor. N. Y. Herald.

THE VOTE OF THESE LEADING SOUTHERN CITIES.—The city of New Orleans, which has 30,688 registered voters, gave 23,897 for Seymour and 276 for Grant. The city of Charleston gave Grant 5,156 and Seymour 3,801. The city of Mobile voted 4,951 for Seymour and 4,141 for Grant.

THE LATE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

The entire absorption of the public mind in the grave questions which underlie the Presidential election has used the proceedings of the recent Triennial Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States to be regarded with far less interest than naturally belongs to matters of so much real dignity and importance.—The fact is exceptional. It is only at intervals of twelve years that the sessions of this body are coincident with the conduct of our most momentous political campaign, and at other times its deliberations attract, as they deserve, a degree of attention second to that which is bestowed on no other secular or religious organization. At this juncture, just as the Convention has adjourned, and just before the culmination of the political conflict at the polls, we may perhaps profitably submit one or two considerations suggested by the recent debates.

It may fairly be deemed a subject of congratulation that, in respect of geographical lines, the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country was never before so thoroughly and cordially united. Happily relieved of the disturbing element of slavery, which at all times heretofore threatened its severance at any moment, the Church now recognizes, indeed, no jealousies between North and South, and where antagonisms might have otherwise been painfully expected, we have seen only the happiest manifestation of the "unity of the spirit in the bond of peace." This is no light or trivial matter, and gives the highest encouragement for the future brotherhood of once discordant sections on the enduring basis of mutual forbearance and good will.

It is also a hopeful sign of the times that in the recent discussions the most influential, if not the most prominent, part was borne by the laity. No one can have read the daily abstract of what was said and done in the Convention without being struck with this fact. We cannot and would not ignore, of course, the impression made by the speeches of such distinguished clerical deputies as Rev. Drs. Haight and Littlejohn, of New York, Howe and Goodwin, of Pennsylvania, Mead, of Connecticut, Adams, of Wisconsin, Mahan, of Maryland, Andrews and Norton, of Virginia, and Gadsden, of South Carolina—all clear thinkers and forcible speakers, who never rose without commanding attention. And yet, after all, largely as the time of the Convention was taken up with the various topics upon which these able and learned divines touched in debate, it is clear that the action of the body was determined rather by the counsels of the distinguished laymen who had seats upon the floor. These deputies, indeed, abstained from frequent or protracted speaking, but upon all questions of parliamentary law, in pointing out the dangers of hasty and ill-considered legislation, and in warning the Convention from making canons which should possibly conflict with existing statute laws and other controlling influences of the various States, their advice was of the greatest significance and value. Few ecclesiastical assemblies have had so great a number of eminent practical men from the body of the people. The experience and learning of Samuel B. Ruggles and Hamilton Fish, of New York; the quick perception and thoughtful wisdom of Messrs. Welsh and Conyngham, of Pennsylvania—the last named a Judge; the calm, clear mode of statement of Messrs. Battle, of North Carolina, Ode, of Illinois, and Shelley, of Virginia—all accustomed to pronounce legal judgments from the bench; the sharp, incisive logic of Mr. McCrady, of South Carolina, and the sturdy good sense of Gov. Stevenson, of Kentucky; these high intellectual endowments would have illustrated any deliberative assembly, no matter for what purpose brought together. The participation of such men in the affairs of the Church must enhance its efficiency in elevating society to the standard of Christian morals, at once benefitting Church and State by a direct and retroactive agency.

All right-minded persons, within or without the communion of the Episcopal Church, will rejoice that the debates of the Convention were conducted throughout in the most courteous spirit, and that even upon points of difference, where schism had been feared but was happily averted, there was an amenity of temper that became Christian men seeking to serve the cause of their Master. Twice during the session, the ordinarily simple and conversational style of speech employed in the body rose to rare eloquence, that melted the hearts and stirred the sympathy of all hearers.—The first occasion was in the statement by Rev. Mr. Rogers, of Texas, of the necessity of giving help to the Bishop in discharging his episcopal functions in that vast diocese. The second was in the presentation by Hon. B. Johnson Barbour, of Virginia, of a report on the destitution of the clergy and the urgency of providing for their relief. Mr. Barbour's remarks were instinct with the deepest feeling and expressed in a phrase of unstudied yet majestic diction, and they commanded the greater attention from the fact that all saw and felt that at last the usefulness and perpetuity of the Church depended upon the recognition of the scriptural precept, that the laborer is worthy of his hire.—N. Y. Times.

AGRICULTURAL REPORTS.—We believe it would subserve the interests of the agricultural community if accurate accounts of the crops could be obtained and published.—Very often, through misrepresentations by speculators, the quantity is exaggerated, and the producer thereby subjected to loss.

We therefore ask that two or more friends in each of the tobacco counties of Virginia and North Carolina shall furnish us with a statement of the quantity and quality of the crop in their counties this year, compared with last year. No exaggeration, but as near the exact truth as can be obtained.

If the Louisville and St. Louis papers could obtain similar statements from their tobacco regions, we should know at once pretty nearly the amount and quality of the crop in the United States.

We should be obliged to our correspondents for any other agricultural information, such as the quantity of corn, hays, &c., and the quantity of wheat seeded this fall, compared with last year.—Richmond Whig.

The "Bend:" An economical method of producing the Grecian Bend has been discovered. On rising in the morning, before breakfast, take, on an empty stomach, one pint of green chesnuts, two large green apples, half a pound of raw cabbage, and a quarter of a pound of honey. A little milk and vinegar will add to the effect. The bend, in the most approved form, will appear in about half an hour.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,
NEW YORK.

Office, No. 60, Liberty Street.

The Original Joint Stock Life Insurance Company in the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVELY confined to the insurance of first-class healthy lives.

THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE of the STOCK system of Life Insurance, as opposed to the MUTUAL, is a low rate of premium for a stated sum assured, which is IMMEDIATE, SECURED, and CERTAIN; in lieu of a high rate of premium for a promised dividend which is DISTANT, CONTINGENT, and UNCERTAIN; this so-called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium charged in the first instance.

ILLUSTRATION.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of effecting an insurance on his life; this amount will immediately secure him in the 'Universal' the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum, paid to a Company charging the ordinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of $8,474.

The difference between these sums ($3,277) is exactly the same as an immediate bonus or addition to the policy to be paid by the former office to the holder of the policy in case of the early death of the insured. It is true that if the insured, in an office charging high rates, live long enough, and have his periodical dividends added to his policy, the sum may equal or surpass that above named; but it must not be forgotten that the chance of early death is the very thing the applicant desires to insure against, and consequently the greater the sum immediately secured contingent on this event, the greater the advantage to the policy-holder.

To illustrate the importance to the policy-holder of low premiums in more general terms, it may be stated that by a reduction of twenty-five per cent in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one-third per cent greater and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cent. in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an annual cash dividend of thirty three and one-third per cent., payable in advance, or to a dividend of forty-five per cent. payable at the end of five years.

By the Stock plan the full cash effect of the premium is immediately secured to the insured, the Company taking all the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in insurance of the premium paid is not secured to the policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself.

Rates to Secure $1,000 at Death.

| AGE. | Ordinary Life Rate. | Ten Payments Rate | AGE. | Ordinary Life Rate. | Ten Payments Rate. |

Policies issued at rates less than those charged by Mutual Companies, guaranteeing a return of fifty per cent. of the premium after the third annual payment.

The undersigned having been appointed General Agents for the States of North and South Carolina, for the above STERLING Company, desire Agents in all the principal towns and sections in said States. ## LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1868.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Some of our City and County subscribers have delayed payment until their bills in the aggregate are considerable. We beg them to attend to them at once.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING!

Pursuant to adjournment, the Democratic Clubs of the City are requested to meet at the Eastern Ward Club House, this (Friday) evening, at 7½ o'clock. The meeting is for business purposes and a full attendance is requested.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Salem-made Shoes for Ladies, Men and Boys: W. H. Jones & Co., Commission Merchants, Fayetteville Street.

Horse Stolen—$100 reward: David Dixon, Snow Camp, Alamance Co.

TO THE CITIZENS OF RALEIGH.

In view of the approaching season, in which the poor of the city must suffer, unless some extra efforts be made for their relief, it was resolved, by the Young Men's Christian Association, that four of their number be appointed to wait upon the citizens to solicit such aid as they may be disposed to grant.

The Association, being efficiently and systematically managed, will, we think, be the best channel through which this class of persons can be provided for.

It is also recommended that street beggars and all others be referred to the Association. In this way imposition cannot be practiced by the unworthy, as has been done in some cases.

The gentlemen appointed are: P. F. Pescud, A. M. McPheeters, W. J. Young and Wm. E. Anderson.

By order of the EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

We publish the foregoing with pleasure, and commend the charitable object, which the Association has in view, to the generous and Christian endorsement of the community. Let them remember that "he, who giveth to the poor, lendeth to the Lord."

ARMS.—We now hear that "Gov." Holden has received 3,000 stand of arms, and that they were purchased North, not for the militia but for volunteer (?) Companies. The boxes were marked "Pittsburg, Pa." We were not aware that the Legislature had made an appropriation for the purchase of any arms.

THANKSGIVING.—We observe, by an advertisement in the Raleigh Standard, that "Gov." Holden has designated Thursday, the 26th of November, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer. The same day has already been designated by the President of the United States.

READING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE.—We resume our practice, interrupted by the pressure of political matter during the campaign, of presenting miscellaneous reading matter on every page. It shall be our aim to give our readers a pleasing variety.

STATE PENITENTIARY.—We learn that the Commissioners appointed to locate the State Penitentiary have fixed upon a point at or near Lockville, on Deep River, Chatham County. There were various excellent inducements offered to the Commissioners to locate it near this city, at Selma, Johnston County, and perhaps at other points, which would, in some respects, have been preferable, but the inducements in favor of Lockville, we suppose, prevailed with the Commissioners and influenced their determination. The extension of the Chatham Rail Road to Lockville, which will be completed in a short time, obviates many of the objections heretofore urged against its location on Deep River. The building material is there abundant and an immense water power for machinery, and it is said to be a healthy region and abundant in provisions.

It has been reported to the Newbern Journal of Commerce, "from an authentic source," that not less than eleven cases of the disease denominated matrimony, which will be fully developed ere the Christmas holidays, have been contracted by twenty two of the most beautiful maidens and the handsomest young men of that city.

ALABAMA.—The returns from thirty counties give Grant about 10,000 majority.—The remaining counties—thirty-two—with the exception of four, will all probably give Seymour majorities. The State is still classed as doubtful. Hundreds of white men did not vote because they did not have an opportunity of registering, while many others would not take the voters' oath.

The New York World says: "Hoffman's majority will be between 28,000 and 30,000. The delay in receiving the official figures is suspicious, to say the least of it, and suggests a possible doctoring of the genuine vote to suit Radical necessities."

According to the Columbus (Ga.) Sun, a post-office clerk at that place deems it to be his "right and duty, in times like the present, to open and examine the correspondence of parties who in his judgment are disloyal."

STATE MATTERS.

The Radical majority in Halifax county is 1,613, instead of 1,820, as heretofore stated. This makes a Democratic nett gain in the County of 116, instead of a Radical gain of 29, as before published. This is well done for Halifax.

The first shipment of rough ice ever made from Goldsboro, as a Wayne county product, was made on Tuesday last. A car-load was sent off for New York, shipped to Dibble, Worth & Co., by Mr. A. Day, of Goldsboro.'

The Fayetteville Eagle compliments the manner in which Matthew N. Leary, Jr., colored Registrar for Fayetteville, performed his duty.

The Roanoke News says that the Superior Court, now in session at Halifax, has been engaged the greater part of its sittings in the trial of negroes for various offences, entailing a heavy expense upon the county, as nearly all of the criminal blacks are destitute of means, and the whole expense of their trial devolves upon the county. Is there no possible remedy for this evil, (it asks,) or must the taxes of the county, which should go to other purposes, be swallowed up in this abominable nuisance?

A. H. Galloway, the negro candidate for Elector on the Radical ticket, runs considerably behind the rest of the ticket in this State.

A few days since, Holden wrote a letter to Mr. Reilly, the Sheriff of Cumberland, stating that information had reached him that a precept could, in no case, be served, such was the lawless feeling of the people! Radical as he is, the Sheriff could not do otherwise than reply that in no case had the slightest resistance ever been made or attempted. In short it was a lie throughout, fabricated for a base purpose.

The Newbern Journal of Commerce publishes a long list of the names of Bankrupts, who obtained their final discharge at the late term of the United States District Court, held for the District of Pamlico, in Newbern, on the 26th ult.

The Fayetteville correspondent of the Wilmington Journal says that Monk Julian, alias Watkins, one of the prisoners confined so long at Fort Macon, under sentence of a Military Commission, upon the charge of killing the negro Archie Beebee in February, 1867, shot a negro the other day somewhere about the Cape Fear river. The negro was shot in the leg as he was running from Monk, two balls taking effect upon him. The weapon was a revolver, and the wounds were not serious. Monk was arrested, and, after examination before a Magistrate, was bound over. Some insult or violence offered by the negro to a lame brother of Monk Julian was the cause of the difficulty.

What is only out of individuals!

Now just let ME tell you, that there is more humbug than poetry in all this. Don't every man, woman and child know that it is humbug—large enough to be seen even with one eye shut? So let them talk, puff and blow, but ever, LOOK OUT! HANDS OFF! and show your good judgment by

THE MAPLE LEAF.

A withered leaf fell from a maple tree
That swaying, bowed, beneath the autumn wind,
Rustling the while its mournful memory
Of summer's verdant glories left behind.

On mother earth's fair bosom, damp with dew
Of earliest morn, the leaflet, fluttering, fell,
Then bounding off, upon the breezes flew
Forever from the spot it loved so well.

And, as through dell and woodland shade 'twas borne
O'er meadows green where murmuring streamlets flow,
But one sad plaint went with it, all forlorn,
As with a shell its seaside echoes go.

Till, falling where a river, swift and wide
Flowed on in silent grandeur to the sea,
'Twas borne along upon the eddying tide
Mid sunlit ripples, dancing merrily.

Forgotten then the still secluded glen
Where grew the maple tree that gave it birth;
Forgotten all its plaintive murmurs then;
Forgotten all save joyful, gleeful mirth.

Ah! ye who from the home of childhood stray
To wander o'er the stranger scenes of earth,
Let not that first loved vision fade away,
Forget not thus, in exile, all its worth.

WAIT.

Wait a moment, young man, before you throw that money down on the bar and demand a glass of brandy and water. Ask yourself if twenty-five cents cannot be better invested in something else. Put it back in your pocket, and give it to the little cripple who sells matches on the corner. Take my word for it, you will not be sorry.

Wait, madam—think twice before you decide on that hundred dollar shawl. A hundred dollars is a great deal of money; one dollar is a great deal, when people once consider the amount of good it will accomplish, in careful hands. Your husband's business is uncertain; there is a financial crisis close at hand. Who knows what that hundred dollars may be to you yet?

Wait, sir, before you buy that gaudy amethyst breast-pin you are surveying so earnestly through the jeweler's plate-glass windows. Keep your money for another piece of jewelry—a plain gold wedding ring made to fit a rosy finger that you wot of. A shirt neatly ironed and stockings darned like lace work are better than gilt brooches and flaming amethysts. You can't afford to marry? Wait, and think the matter over.

Wait, mother, before you speak harshly to the little chubby rogue who has torn his apron and soiled his white Marseilles jacket. He is only a child, and "mother" is the sweetest word in all the world to him. Needle and thread and soap suds will repair all damages; but if you once teach him to shrink from his mother, and hide away his childish faults, that damage cannot be repaired.

Wait, husband, before you wonder audibly why your wife don't get along with family cares and household responsibilities "as your mother did." She is doing her best, and no woman can endure that best to be slighted. Remember the nights she set up with the little babe that died; remember the love and care she bestowed on you when you had that long fit of illness! Do you think she is made of cast iron? Wait—wait with silence and forbearance, and the light will come back to her eyes, the old light of the old days.

Wait, wife, before you speak so reproachfully to your husband when he comes home late, and weary and "out of sorts." He has worked for you all day long; he has wrestled, hand in hand, with care, and selfishness, and greed, and all the demons that follow in the train of money making. Let home be another atmosphere entirely; let him feel that there is one place in the world where he can find peace, and quiet, and perfect love.

Wait, bright young girls, before you arch your pretty eyes, and whisper "old maid," as the quiet figure steals by, with silver in its hair and crow's feet around the eyes. It is hard enough to lose life's gladness and elasticity—it is hard enough to see youth drifting away, without adding to the bitter cup one drop of scorn. You do not know what she has endured; you never can know until experience teaches you; so wait before you sneer at the Old Maid.

Wait, sir, before you add a billiard room to your house, and buy the fast horse that is Black and White and all the rest of "the fellows" covet. Wait, and think whether you can afford it—whether your outstanding bills are all paid and your liabilities fully met, and all the chances and changes of life duly provided for. Wait, and ask yourself how you would like, ten years from now, to see your fair wife struggling with poverty, your children shabby and wantstricken, and yourself a miserable hanger-on round corner groceries and one-horse gambling saloons. You think that is impossible; do you remember what Hazael said to the seer of old: "Is thy servant a dog that he should do this thing?

Wait, merchant, before you tell the pale-faced youth from the country "that you can do nothing for him." You can do something for him; you can give him a word of encouragement—a word of advice. There was a time once when you were young and poor, and friendless. Have you forgotten it already?

Wait, blue eyed lassie, wait a while before you say "yes" to the dashing young fellow who says he can't live without you. Wait until you have ascertained "for sure and for certain," as the children say, that the cigar and the wine bottle, and the card table are not to be your rivals in his heart; a little delay won't hurt him, whatever he may say—just see if it will.

And wait, my friend, with the brown moustache; don't commit yourself to Laura Matilda until you are sure she will be kind to your old mother, and gentle with your little sisters, and a true, loving wife to you, instead of a mere puppet who lives on the breath of fashion and excitement, and regards the sunny side of Broadway as second only to Elysium! As a general thing, people are in too great a hurry in the world; we say wait, wait!
